

AUPOV09

Media Release - 22 June 2009

AUPOV09 was held on Thursday 18th & 19th , 2009 at the City Beach Function Centre, Wollongong NSW Australia bringing together delegates representative of private, enterprise, community and government registered training organisations, the Australian Navy, Australian Armed Forces, University of Wollongong, University of New South Wales, commercial publishers, educational consultancy, medical training, POV manufacturing and retail distribution.

The focus of this conference was relating the use of point-of-view technologies with that of it's applied use in an educational training & assessment context. A number of Speakers also referenced these technologies in the wider social, cultural and ethical paradigms.

This inaugural educational technology oriented event brought together practitioners, industry and academic with delegates traveling from a number of diverse locations including New Zealand, Karratha, Adelaide, Perth and Brisbane.

The main website provides an overview of the scope of the topics , the Speakers, Presenters and workshops on offer available at <http://www.aupov.com>

All photos released under Creative Commons are available at <http://www.flickr.com/photos/tags/aupov09>

All online conversations ensuing from the event reveal much of what was taken home as key messages available at <http://search.twitter.com/search?q=aupov09>

Feedback from surveys issued to Delegates and Presenters soon after the event include;

"Very well organized and well planned from presentations to recordings to venue and catering. Excellent events management"

" Congratulations to all of the organizers of AUPOV09, a very professional and very useful meeting! It was both a pleasurable and educational experience...."

".....Very well organised. Great location. Very comfortable accommodation. Good range of topics for discussion. Plenty of opportunities for topical conversations. Excellent food. Very good use of online tools to extend the conference in time and space. I would recommend next year's planned conference to others if it is to be similar. "

".....Very smooth running day - standout conference in terms of relevant speakers and presenters. More please! Particularly found it valuable that it wasn't just VET represented at the conference. "